Dear Rick:

At the close of each semester the Center for Teaching Thank-a-Teacher program provides an opportunity for students to recognize excellence in teaching by writing notes of appreciation to their outstanding instructors. One or more of your students participated in this program, and it is my pleasure to deliver these words of gratitude to you.

A student from your Business Analytics course has written the following:

Rick,

Your exceptional and flexible teaching techniques are very useful for professional students. You are remarkable in responding to questions and queries; be it in class or offline. Your personality is very inspiring and motivating!

Thanks

Nivriti Gunjan

Congratulations and thank you for your exceptional teaching efforts at the University of Iowa. Your hard work and dedication to your students have not gone unnoticed, and we certainly appreciate all that you do.

Sincerely,

Jean C. Florman
